W.I.N. BRUNCH HOST

ALENCIA JOHNSON

AUTHOR, FLIP THE TABLES

Alencia Johnson is a sought-after cultural commentator, bestselling author, advisor, and leader at the intersection of social justice and culture change. She is the Founder of 1063 West Broad — a social impact consultancy and media company connecting brands, organizations and people to purpose driven solutions. Her debut national bestseller, “Flip The Tables: The Everyday Disruptor’s Guide to Finding Courage and Making Change” is available everywhere books are sold.

Alencia has been recognized by Harvard University with a “Woman of the Year” award, EBONY Magazine’s “Power 100” list of influential African Americans, PRWeek’s “40 Under 40” list and more.

Alencia is a sought-after thought leader and cultural critic regularly featured on MSNBC, CNN, ABC, BET, NPR, Washington Post, ESSENCE, Glamour and more. She is a proud member of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, Inc. Alencia can be found on Instagram at @AlenciaJohnson.

KIAH DUGGINS

YOUTH HONOREE

Kiah Duggins was an advocate for social justice and equity, with a particular focus on uplifting marginalized communities and empowering women. Throughout her career, Kiah has been an influential voice in the legal and political spheres, working tirelessly to advance civil rights and equality.

Kiah made contributions to fighting systemic inequality, particularly in the areas of criminal justice reform, economic justice, and racial equality. She was involved in numerous grassroots initiatives aimed at dismantling discriminatory policies and creating pathways for underrepresented groups to access justice.

Kiah was deeply committed to mentoring the next generation of women leaders, especially those from underrepresented backgrounds. Through her work, she provided guidance and support to aspiring legal professionals, helping them navigate the complexities of law and public service.

FATIMA GOSS GRAVES

PRESIDENT & CEO, NATIONAL WOMEN'S LAW CENTER

ADULT HONOREE

Fatima Goss Graves is the President and CEO of the National Women's Law Center (NWLC), where she has worked for over a decade advancing gender and racial justice. She also serves as President of the NWLC Action Fund and is a co-founder of the TIME'S UP Legal Defense Fund, which connects individuals facing workplace sexual misconduct with legal and public relations support.

Goss Graves is a nationally recognized expert in law and public policy, especially in the areas of workplace fairness, income security, reproductive rights, and education access. Her work places particular emphasis on improving outcomes for women and girls of color. Before becoming CEO in 2017, she held senior leadership roles at NWLC, including Vice President for Education and Employment and Senior Vice President for Program.

She frequently testifies before Congress, contributes to major media outlets like The New York Times and NPR, and is a sought-after speaker on gender equity and civil rights. Her legal expertise and public leadership have earned her recognition across sectors, including the 2020 John W. Gardner Leadership Award from the Independent Sector.

A graduate of UCLA and Yale Law School, Goss Graves began her legal career clerking for Judge Diane P. Wood on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit and later practiced at Mayer Brown LLP. She currently advises on national initiatives related to campus sexual misconduct and workplace harassment. Goss Graves lives in Washington, D.C., with her family and continues to be a powerful voice for justice and equality.

W.I.N. BRUNCH PANEL

MODERATOR

EBONI K. WILLIAMS

ATTORNEY, AUTHOR, AND MEDIA PERSONALITY

Eboni K. Williams is an American lawyer, author, and television host. She hosts and is executive producer of Equal Justice with Judge Eboni K. Williams, a nationally syndicated court television show. Additionally, she hosts and is executive producer of the NAACP Image Award-winning Holding Court with Eboni K. Williams.
